

Bob Weinhold

President

Bob Weinhold has spent his career working with individuals and teams in diverse organizations to help them achieve ambitious goals seemingly out of reach. He does this by strategically engaging executive teams and coaching individuals. From his experience as a former CEO of a behavioral healthcare company and in multiple roles as a leadership coach, Bob understands how to make businesses successful, improve performance and bring about transformational change.

Strategic alignment and executive coaching are delivered through a tailored platform specific to each client. Engagements demand significant commitments on both sides to deliver exceptional growth results. Bob's track record of success focused on growth includes organizations in private industry, academia, government as well as the 1996 Olympics. Bob is a constant speaker and has presented to Supreme Court Justices, Executive Leadership Panels and large CEO conferences.

Bob's dynamic connection to others stems from his belief in servant leadership which he lives out in all settings including family, business, community and in athletics; particularly with those who share his passion for participating in 100 mile running races! Bob brings all of these skills, strengths, beliefs and experiences to his clients in providing strategic engagement and leadership coaching.
